

FEATURING TARIK AMIN

Tarik Amin/The Poet Amin is a self-taught and published author that has been on his recovery journey since June of '09. The Poet writes about the struggles he had with addiction and how it is viewed in the eyes of society at large. With that being said he also writes about this beautiful recovery journey he is living in hopes to inspire others that they can also surrender and reap the benefits of recovery as well. It wasn't until The Poet turned his will over to a power greater than himself that he begun to accomplish goals and fulfill his dreams. The Poet is a human service worker who has earned his bachelor's degree in social work, and considers himself a Poet Visionary painting pictures with his words. The Poet will be sharing poems revolving around his personal experience with addiction and recovery.
